

Extended Dwelling Coverage

Extended dwelling coverage, also known as coverage extensions, provides an essential layer of protection for your home insurance policy. It ensures that if the cost to rebuild your home exceeds your standard dwelling coverage limit, you have additional financial support. This type of coverage is particularly crucial in regions vulnerable to natural disasters, such as tornadoes, hurricanes, and wildfires.

Insurance providers typically allow you to increase your policy's Coverage A limit by increments ranging from 10% to 50%, depending on your needs and preferences. This endorsement can be surprisingly affordable, often costing as little as $100 per year, depending on the percentage increase you choose.

By opting for extended dwelling coverage, you can gain peace of mind knowing that your home is better protected against unexpected rebuilding costs.
